

Eczema and Aloe Propolis Creme

I want to share my experience of Forever Aloe Propolis creme with others.

"This cream is truly remarkable. My son contracted quite severe eczema at the age of 11 months very suddenly. This took over his whole body in a matter of days. As a result, I took him to the doctors for help, having already tried many things at home such as bathing him in Oilatum Junior bubble bath followed by a massage after his bath with very expensive Oilatum moisturizer.

The doctor prescribed an emollient bathing solution, a soap replacement, steroid cream (which I was most unhappy with) and an emollient moisturizer. Following the routine provided to me by the doctor, there was no sign of any improvement. I took him back. He was then prescribed a 10 day course of anti biotics to help with the inflammation of the eczema that was by this point, very angry looking. Nothing happened after 6 weeks of this treatment.

It was then that I decided to try and manage this problem on my own, without all the chemical filled prescribed lotions and potions that were not bringing any relief of this issue. Then, during a conversation at work, Veronica approached me about Forever living products and a product that she said may help with eczema. I am very willing to try natural products, and this is my preference.

At the same time, my son's skin was upsetting me, as I didn't want him to have this forever. Veronica discussed with me what exactly the problem was, and then suggested I try some Aloe Propolis Crème. I wanted to try and help my son (who is now 15 months) and his welfare is priceless. I purchased the cream and begun using it. Within 2 days, all the redness on his skin had gone. I have continued with this once or twice a day, and the result has been that there is currently no sign of eczema on his skin, or ever having been on his skin.

I am extremely grateful to Veronica and to the product and I will continue to purchase this product on a regular basis to keep it at bay. It is an amazing cream, and has a whole range of uses - very handy to have around the home, but more importantly magical healing cream for eczema. I want to tell everyone who is suffering with this condition about it, as I believe it would help everyone with eczema".
