A few months ago my wife started taking the Aloe Vera drink twice a day, after about 2 months she told me that she has started to feel really good inside and that maybe I should start to take the Aloe drink as I suffer from Diabetes, High Blood pressure and Gout plus have pains in the left knee when walking up stairs. Anyway still being very sceptical about the whole thing said no. It wasn't until I came in from working on her car with greasy hands she said that I should try using the Aloe Liquid Soap. My first thought was to say no way, but something inside me said just try it, so I did and I could not believe how easy the grease came off.

So I said ok I will give the drink a try and see what happens. Anyway I have been taking the Aloe Vera drink twice a day now for just over a month and well I just don't believe how good I feel.

Things I have noticed till now are:

1. The pain in my knee has gone
2. The swelling (Gout) around my right ankle has gone
3. Making a fist with both of my hands is also pain free
4. Just feel really good all day

As for my high blood pressure and diabetes I will update as soon as I have more news as this is going to be a more long term thing.

Conclusion:

After only one month of taking the Aloe drink I am convinced that this stuff I once called Alien juice is really a natural wonder cure and will be helping to educate others in what Aloe Vera can do to help them.

Thank you FLP.
